Presentation Traditional Hollowing – Alex Garcia

Alex began his presentation by discussing traditional hollowing tools. He began with several specialty tools such as small/large hook and probe. As well as round and flat nosed scrapers.

He then demonstrated end grain hollowing by creating a lidded box. He used a design (see show and tell) that he said was very easy to turn and could be turned in a short period of time. He used a roughing gouge and skew to turn the outside of the box. He then primarily used scrapers on the inside.

He recommends that the tool rest be slightly above center to help minimize catches inside. He also kept his tool handle under his forearm to increase control and reduce the chance of injury.
